Big Thank you to all Tri-Five Revolutionaries for helping with this newsletter edition. It was my goal this month to have everyone who attended Midnight at the Oasis share their experiences and you didn't disappoint me. This is what makes this group extraordinary. Everyone is always available when asked. I hope you all enjoy the group's contributions and photos.

The Road to MATO 2015

The Thursday Morning Caravan

By Ann Goldberg

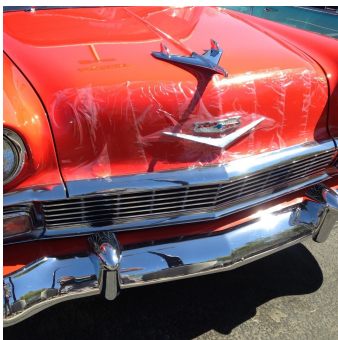

Ah, that feeling of confidence that you're going to be not just on time to meet friends, but actually early. Good feeling. Like it. Just didn't turn out to be our reality Thursday, March 05, when we headed towards the lookout on the I-8 south of Alpine where Tri-5ers gather each year to caravan to Yuma and MATO.

We had a head start from our usual travels, departing from Santee and our daughter's house, not our home in San Clemente. Easy peasey. Nothing to it. We've got this one. Pulled onto the 8 directly behind Brownie with Wayne at the wheel and Linda close beside. Good sign. They're known for being early arrivers. Soon found Bob Brown had pulled in directly behind us. Perfect. Right on schedule.

Surprisingly, when we pulled into the lookout we were the last three cars of the group to arrive. Sandy and Lynn; Rod and Nancy; Lance; Joe and Donna; Sam, Donna and Amstel — all there. After hellos, hugs, some conversation, and a quick look at our great Tri-5's (Sandy, why do you have sandwich wrap stuck on the front of your Nomad? Ah, clear adhesive chip protection sheets. Got it!) we were on our way with Rod and Nancy in their flashy red '57 in the lead.

Though it was a clear and beautiful day as we drove towards El Centro and our first stop, lunch at In 'n Out, we were buffeted with strong winds that rocked the cars side-to-side. Happily, traffic moved smoothly and we arrived without incident, ahead of the lunch crowd. As planned, Mike and Pat had gotten there just ahead of us. Our early-in-the-day caravan group was now complete; Bob and Ava, Tom and Nancy would bring up the rear heading to Yuma at the end of the work day.

The El Centro stop is a great way to breakup the trip. After lunch we regrouped, continued on our way, and arrived safely in Yuma checking into the hotel and having an opportunity relax a bit before we headed into town for the first events of the weekend.

MIDNIGHT AT THE OASIS 2015 GAME NIGHT(S)

After arriving at the Hampton Inn in Yuma on Thursday and filling up at Dave's Famous Barbeque, a very serious game of Apples to Apples began:

The TRI-5 Revolution gang takes Apples to Apples very seriously. After several hands were played it became obvious that some players (Nancy H) would stop at nothing to try and win a hand, stooping to compliments, bribery, etc. As the game progressed several people were gathering winning cards, with no clear winner appearing. The game was neck and neck, with several players gathering two, then three cards. More people started making compliments and more attempted bribery were taking place as the end grew close. As in poker, the player with the "poker face", Pat Harvey gathered the necessary fifth card and won the game.

Saturday night had the group back at the hotel after a long day at the show venue. With the exciting lineup of concerts coming up at the windy ball field, most of us decided to gather for game night two. The group broke up into two game tables and a serious game of Five Crowns began. At our table we had four first time players. Wayne did a great job of explaining the game, along with support from Nancy H. The game began and we were off on a fun evening. I was getting the hang of the game, and keeping my score low as the game progressed. I had strong competition from the person next to me (married to Rod) and we were neck in neck as we go towards the end. This person started arguing with herself trying to get me to lose focus, which worked as I did not go out when I could have. Nancy and I tied for low score and congratulated each other. Overall we all had a great time.

MATO Culinary Delights

It all began in El Centro with our traditional stop at In & Out to enjoy their fresh and juicy burgers and crispy fries. Hunger satisfied, it was on to Yuma. After settling in at the Hampton Inn, Famous Dave's Barbecue was chosen by the group as our dinner destination since it was within walking distance. It was a hit or miss depending on your order.

Breakfasts at the Hampton were good. There were a large variety of foods to choose from and in this case the early birds did get more selections. The hotel also provided coffee, hot teas and lemonade all day long, and warm cookies in the early evening.

On Friday, Kneaders was the choice made by several of the group for lunch. It is adjacent to the hotel and with a little climbing and sliding down the slope; it can be reached without driving. Kneaders offers a variety of fresh baked breads for sandwiches, soups, salads and yummy desserts. A little crowded, but definitely worth the wait.

Later at the show, we happily supported the Boy Scouts and treated ourselves to freshly baked peach cobbler topped off with vanilla ice cream. It was a great ending to a fun day.

On Saturday, we enjoyed the mouth-watering tri tip for lunch. It never fails to please. Mi Rancho has become a must stop for us and that was where some of the group had dinner. The food was excellent.

Finally, five pentagrams go to Ann and Pat for the delicious cookies and brownies they shared with everyone.

The Tri Fives seem to truly enjoy eating and each gathering is an adventure in tastes. Looking forward to the next one.

23RD ANNUAL MIDNIGHT AT THE OASIS

FUN RUN (POKER RUN)

BY WAYNE & LINDA

The Poker Run or “Fun Run” as they officially call it, has always been a lot fun. We miss the good old days when we would cover 20 to 30 miles, seeing a lot of the surrounding areas of Yuma. We do not miss going to Cocopah where you have to park and go in the smoke-filled casino to draw the last card. On occasion, the route would take us through mobile home parks, so the people who live there could see our classics without having to leave home. This was important to them because most of them had difficulty attending other parts of MATO and they really showed their appreciation of seeing the classic cars, many of which were like ones they once owned. The smiles on their faces made this part of the event very special.

The Caballeros De Yuma brought the Fun Run back to Midnight at the Oasis this year, but it was definitely on the short side. We never got more than a mile or so from the starting point. It was still fun, however. The event started on Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in the parking lot southeast corner of the round-a-bout at Harold C. Giss Parkway & Madison Avenue by City Hall. After milling around the lot for a bit looking at all the classics, everyone drew their first poker card out of a brown paper bag. We drew the queen of hearts. Then we all got in our classics and made our way to the next stop not far away, the Yuma Territorial Prison. After a short wait in line, we drew a deuce of spades. Then it was back down Prison Road and back towards downtown making a right turn on Gila Street to Armed Forces Park. Another short wait in line netted us a nine of clubs, not much of a hand so far. The next stop was just a little further north on Gila Street at Gateway Park, past the restrooms to the end of the parking lot. This time we drew a deuce of clubs. Yeah, we got a pair of two's! Okay, on to the last stop for the fifth and final card, the Yuma Quartermaster Depot State Historic Park, just off Fourth Avenue by the river. We drew a Queen of spades, giving us two pair, deuces and queens.

The winner of the Fun Run received an entry to next year's MATO event and a raffle ticket for the '48 Ford sedan drawing on Sunday. Second place scored three raffle tickets for the car and third place got one raffle ticket for the car. Unfortunately, our two pair was not good enough and no one we knew were winners this time around. Maybe we'll have better luck next year.

After the Fun Run, we headed for Main Street to see if they had improved the parking situation from last year. The answer was “definitely not”. Although many of the downtown businesses fully support the event, there were a few vocal minority businesses that didn't and caused a lot of problems securing the downtown streets for a few hours to host the event. We quickly decided to turn around and head back to the Hampton. At the awards, the Caballeros told us they would be taking over all of downtown next year. We will see!

MATO Hotel

This was the first year for the Tri-Fivers staying at the Hampton Inn & Suites in Yuma. Most of us didn't know what to expect with the exception of Donna Rindskopf who stayed there during the Yuma Guide Dog Puppy Group's Fun Day, which takes place nearby. So when we got the word that the Clarion had been sold and was being converted to an assisted living facility we had to scramble to find a new place and Donna was quick to suggest the Hampton based on her previous stay. I don't know what we would of done to Donna if the hotel had not been great.

When we arrived we were greeted with a very friendly staff, far friendlier than the Clarion, if you don't believe me just ask Rod about his experience last year. Donna and I had a bad experience at the Clarion the year before when they claimed our Guide Dog Puppy was in the room barking during the day and in fact he was with us all day at the car show. They even went so far as to try to make us pay for the people's room who complained, unbelievable. No issues with our Guide Dog Puppy Amstel at the Hampton.

The hotel has lots of parking and the parking lot is well lit. The rooms were great although I did hear from a couple of folks that the mattresses were not to their liking. Our room was one of the King Suites and was spacious, clean, and comfortable. The 24 hours a day coffee in the lobby along with cookies in the afternoon was a great touch. The free breakfast was good; I would rank it as better than the Clarion.

The lobby proved big enough to host a large group of the Tri-Five Revolutionaries playing cards. I tried my hand at a game (the name of which I don't recall). What I do recall is Sandy Mayer and Nancy Hildebrand tying for first place and me finishing well down the list.

Another plus with the hotel is that there are a number of good restaurants within walking distance, along with a large shopping mall. We went to the Cracker Barrel one night, not one of my favorite places but high up on Donna's list. Another night we went to Famous Dave's BBQ, which is high on my list and very near the bottom of Donna's, go figure vegetarians don't like BBQ.

All in all I'm pretty sure everyone was satisfied with the hotel and as a result I have booked another block of rooms for us for next year.

Mike's Musings Car Shows Without a Car

You would think that attending a car show without a car should be easy, not so much! (at least not in this case)

At MATO the general public parks their cars some distance away from the show cars. So all the crap we carry chairs, canopies, ice chest, banner, and snacks have to get inside the show, some how.

I guess I should start at the beginning so this all makes sense. Before we left I contacted Joe and asked him if he didn't mind taking the canopy and the banner back to San Diego after the show so we didn't have to take it to Peoria with us, no problem (Joe's such a nice guy). I never thought about now we would get all that stuff into the show and back out again.

Joe to the rescue again, no problem (Joe's such a nice guy). First we loaded the canopy into Joe's car, second we put the canopy back in our car so we could ride with the Keller's during the poker run. The Goldbergs offered to haul us around, but 4 doors makes all the difference (Harvey is such a nice guy too). Third we put canopy back into Joe's car for the trip into the show and since he had the canopy maybe he would take the banner, ice chest, and snacks with him, no problem (Joe's such a nice guy).

Of course, since Joe hauled it all in, maybe he might as well haul it all back to the Hotel. No problem (Joe's such a nice guy). It all worked out, thanks to all our friends. As an added bonus the canopy and the banner are now in Joe's garage and not it mine.

JOE IN A GREAT GUY.

MATO 2015 Car Show Parade

by Lance Ruiz

The parade was set during a perfect Yuma afternoon. Just the right temp with a slight breeze. We all arrived at the staging area, parking just before they began to place everyone around the bend. Some of us hung out with the vehicles, while others enjoyed the annual walk to the ice cream line. During the walk we were blinded by the amazing swap meet items being presented before us. It was the same young lady scooping ice cream for us for the last four years. We were able to chat it up with her while she loaded up double decker scoops on a cone for each member of our group.

Once back at the vehicles, it was our turn to begin the best portion of the parade; it started out slow, but we were able to space ourselves out appropriately. The parade offers car show entrants the opportunity to showcase their gorgeous American made steel chariots to the public while showing off a little of what is under the hood at times. During the parade, there were times that the movement was so slow and then all of a sudden, we were racing a part of the stretch. It was really a cool thing to see the beautiful cars roaming down the street while we waived to the audience to the side of the roadway. It is always a special thing for me to see the kids really getting excited watching the cars go by. Many of the kids would go out of their way to wave at each passing car as if we were all celebrities.

Then there was the occasional sign that was asking for a burnout. Rev the engine a few times and that would make them happy. Of course in my case, I would use up a quarter tank of gas just to make some noise.

We ended up looping around and making it to our final destination where the MATO was being presented. Lots of photographs were taken by the audience members as we were drawing to a close of the parade. They cheered us on as we entered the show area displaying their excitement for another well done parade and awaiting the MATO 2016 Car Show Parade. This parade featured great examples of years gone by of American best built muscle and classic cars that are so fondly remembered by each of us.

This Years MATO Concerts

By Ann Goldberg

Cars, (peach) cobbler and camaraderie aren't the only highlights of a trip to Midnight at the Oasis. There are the Friday and Saturday night concerts, too. Live entertainment under the stars, sure to be a fun time....most times.

With the exception Friday night's opening act by an area band, this year's line-up was comprised totally of big star tribute bands featuring the music of Elton John, AC/DC, Neil Diamond, the Four Seasons and Journey. Unfortunately, for the most part, we found the artists' efforts lacking. In their defense, we did not stay to hear many of them.

Friday five or six songs into the Elton John performance, we packed up our chairs and headed back to hotel. The same Saturday after we waited forty-five minutes for the switch over to the Journey group — only this time we were on our way out after song number two. Not only was the music not, to our ears, a good presentation, even the peach cobbler was disappointing. Though it sounds like a harsh assessment, knowing the words to the songs and dressing in character is not enough to make a successful tribute act.

The happy exception to the disappointing trend came Saturday evening. December 63 did an enjoyable, quality presentation of the music of the Four Seasons. Much to enjoy! Definitely, to be corny, music to our ears!

Wildflower Update!!

I called this the Wildflower Update just to get your attention, sorry. This is more about the state of the local Ocotillo plants(I don't think these qualify as wildflowers) hence the subterfuge. Our trail to MATO takes us along S2 south of Hwy. 78 in Shelter Valley all the way to Interstate 8. The bloom on the Ocotillo are going to be great this year, they are already in the process and by the time you get your newsletter they should be in full bloom. The best viewing well probably be from Box Canyon to Agua Caliente. but you can see plants all the way to the 8. Also the east side of the Mountains are particularly green this year, especially the back of Mt. Laguna and the area west of San Felipe. It's a nice half day trip if you have the time, enjoy.

23RD ANNUAL MIDNIGHT AT THE OASIS AWARDS DAY

SUBMITTED BY WAYNE & LINDA

It was "Awards Day" at Midnight at the Oasis and the sun was shining brightly over the infield where spectators were busy visiting the vendor booths, checking out all of the cars and buying last minute tickets for this year's raffle car, a 1948 Ford Sedan painted red with yellow flames and sporting a Chevrolet small block V8 engine. All eight winners of this year's MATO awards were proudly displayed on the grass. Signs had been carefully placed on metal stands in front of each winning vehicle letting all of the spectators know which special award each one had earned.

The "Dream Machine" award, was awarded to Tri-Five Revolution's very own Sam & Donna Rindskopf with their beautiful Black 57 Nomad. This was their second win at MATO. Being selected to win one of only eight awards among 900 plus show entrants is quite an accomplishment. To win a second time is even bigger. On hand to witness the event with Sam & Donna were Joe & Donna, Wayne & Linda and Rod with Son-in-Law Lance. When the officials announced the winner of the Dream Machine award, there was the usual round of applause followed with photos of Sam and Donna holding up their Chrome Hubcap award and Amstel close by their side while standing next to the 48 Ford Raffle Car and the pretty young Yuma Jaycee's Silver Spur lady in the cowboy outfit.

The "Hottest" award went to a red '57 Chevy 2-door Hardtop with typical drivetrain and suspension modifications and the addition of custom wheels. The "Most Sought After" award went to a gorgeous custom metallic red 1933 Ford sedan with suicide doors. The red theme continued with "Captain Midnight's Choice" of a red customized 1955 Chevy pickup with its share of chrome and American mag wheels. The "Slickest" award went to a 1956 Ford F-100 pickup painted burgundy with pearl gold ghost flames, chrome running boards and Budnik wheels. Next in line was the "El Presidente's Choice" award won by an all original looking 1958 Cadillac 2-door hardtop dressed in original peach with a white top. A green and silver 1955

Oldsmobile 88 2-door sedan appearing totally original except for custom paint and wheels took the "Fastest" award. The "Most Glitzy" award went to another red car, a 1964 ½ Ford Mustang, mostly stock with custom wheels.

Announcement of the winners of the Fun Run poker hand and raffling off the 48 Ford was the last bit of business for the day. The winner of the poker hand had three aces with a seven high, no one we knew. The winner of the car was also no one we knew and was not there for awards presentation. As usual, MATO officials attempted to call the winner, but were only able to get a voice mail message. Of course, after the awards, there were more photos of our Tri-Five winners holding their hubcap award while standing next to their "Dream Machine" Nomad. Congratulations Sam & Donna!

THE WONDERS OF THE CUCUMBER

1. Cucumbers contain most of the vitamins you need every day, just one cucumber contains Vitamin B1, Vitamin B2, Vitamin B3, Vitamin B5, Vitamin B6, Folic Acid, Vitamin C, Calcium, Iron, Magnesium, Phosphorus, Potassium and Zinc.
2. Feeling tired in the afternoon, put down the caffeinated soda and pick up a cucumber. Cucumbers are a good source of B Vitamins and Carbohydrates that can provide that quick pick-me-up that can last for hours.
3. Tired of your bathroom mirror fogging up after a shower? Try rubbing a cucumber slice along the mirror, it will eliminate the fog and provide a soothing, spa-like fragrance.
4. Are grubs and slugs ruining your planting beds? Place a few slices in a small pie tin and your garden will be free of pests all season long. The chemicals in the cucumber react with the aluminum to give off a scent undetectable to humans but drive garden pests crazy and make them flee the area.
5. Looking for a fast and easy way to remove cellulite before going out or to the pool? Try rubbing a slice or two of cucumbers along your problem area for a few minutes, the photochemicals in the cucumber cause the collagen in your skin to tighten, firming up the outer layer and reducing the visibility of cellulite. Works great on wrinkles too!!!
6. Want to avoid a hangover or terrible headache? Eat a few cucumber slices before going to bed and wake up refreshed and headache free. Cucumbers contain enough sugar, B vitamins and electrolytes to replenish essential nutrients the body lost, keeping everything in equilibrium, avoiding both a hangover and headache!!
7. Looking to fight off that afternoon or evening snacking binge? Cucumbers have been used for centuries and often used by European trappers, traders and explorers for quick meals to thwart off starvation.
8. Have an important meeting or job interview and you realize that you don't have enough time to polish your shoes? Rub a freshly cut cucumber over the shoe, its chemicals will provide a quick and durable shine that not only looks great but also repels water.
9. Out of WD 40 and need to fix a squeaky hinge? Take a cucumber slice and rub it along the problematic hinge, and voila, the squeak is gone!
10. Stressed out and don't have time for massage, facial or visit to the spa? Cut up an entire cucumber and place it in a boiling pot of water, the chemicals and nutrients from the cucumber will react with the boiling water and be released in the steam, creating a soothing, relaxing aroma that has been shown to reduce stress in new mothers and college students during final exams.
11. Just finish a business lunch and realize you don't have gum or mints? Take a slice of cucumber and press it to the roof of your mouth with your tongue for 30 seconds to eliminate bad breath, the photochemicals will kill the bacteria in your mouth responsible for causing bad breath.
12. Looking for a 'green' way to clean your faucets, sinks or stainless steel? Take a slice of cucumber and rub it on the surface you want to clean, not only will it remove years of tarnish and bring back the shine, but it won't leave streaks and won't harm your fingers or fingernails while you clean.
13. Using a pen and made a mistake? Take the outside of the cucumber and slowly use it to erase the pen writing, also works great on crayons and markers that the kids have used to decorate the walls.

The Kitchen Scoop of Angel Food Cake Add-In

By Ann Goldberg

Even as a child I was a fan of Angel Food Cake. This is a rather surprising fact since my family didn't serve it either frosted or glazed. The big attraction, it came topped with a dollop of whipped cream! Heavenly. As an adult, I've continued my adoration.

Not that I've ever made a homemade Angel Food cake. It's always been "from the box" for me. Back when our Tri-5's were new, Angel Food cake mix was still relatively new to the market. In the early 50's the mix came in two different sizes, 14 egg for a large cake, 8 egg for a more modestly sized dessert. Lots of home bakers still used "from scratch" recipes handed down from generations. 12 eggs, just 3/4 cups sugar. Compared to other baked desserts, 1-1/2 cups sugar in carrot cake; 1-1/3 cups sugar plus cream cheese and heavy cream in cheesecake, Angel Food cake seems almost healthy.

Perhaps that "healthy" aspect led me to try versions a bit more decadent. Here are a couple of tricks I think you'll enjoy whether you make the cake yourself, bake it from a mix or use a "store bought" cake as the basis for your dessert.

Cherry Cream Angel Food Cake

Once cake is cool, cut a 3/4-inch slice from the top of the cake. Leaving a 3/4-inch shell on the sides and bottom of the cake, carefully remove the interior. This won't be used for the dessert — feel free to nibble on it, serve on another occasion with a scoop of ice cream or come up with your own idea. It would just be a shame to toss it out. It is Angel Food cake after all.

Mix one can 21-ounce can of cherry pie filling with one thawed 8-ounce container of whipped topping. Fill cake with this mixture. Replace top slice. If desired, frost the cake with additional whipped topping.

Strawberry Cream Angel Food Cake

Same process. There's a pattern here. Just replace the pie filling with sliced fresh strawberries.

Ice Cream or Gelato Filled Angel Food Cake

Same initial steps again. This time fill the cake's cavity with your favorite flavor ice cream or gelato. Wrap cake and freeze for at least a few hours before use. Garnish with whipped cream at serving. I recently made this for a friend's birthday filling with black raspberry chocolate chip gelato. Can you say delicious? Wow! Whichever version you choose, enjoy!

Once again I enjoyed your club newsletter! You really do a fantastic job. I am really jealous there is so much to do for you tri-fivers in your area. We won't get started around Spokane until May.

My wife and I, Debby, are going to be in Las Vegas the week of April 9 - 18. I saw a story in the Nomad Post about a 3 day car show in Laughlin, called the Gambler Classic River Run. We might spend the day there on the 17th and was wondering if any of your club makes that trip? Didn't see it in your newsletter. Know anything about it?

Frank and I appreciate your time last Saturday as it was a pleasure talking with you at the Yuma Car Show. I am hopeful that you will consider our Car Show in June in the Cool White Mountains of Arizona.

I have attached our show Information, and ask that you pass it on to anyone you think might be interested.

In addition, I would like to be included in your email blasts about club events & forums as I am in the very beginning stages of restoring a 56 210 2-door wagon. (I need all the help I can get)
