TECH TIME Convertible Update

submitted by Wayne Hartwig

Last month, I talked about the issues surrounding the Corvette differential in the Chevrolet convertible project. Since then, I have made significant progress with this project. The differential parts have been powder coated and everything has been reassembled with new bearings, seals and u-joints, and installed under the car. As I had hoped, the Dana 44 differential fit perfectly with the other parts. I did have to get a new nose mount made and I will need to shorten the driveshaft, but all in all, everything seems to be good. I also discovered that Kendall and a few other oil vendors now sell limited slip differential oil with friction modifier already added, so it is no longer necessary to buy the stink oil friction modifier separately. What took them so long?

So, it was time to move on to installing sound deadener under the dash and firewall. I was not happy with the paint job under the dash, as there was still a lot of surface rust and lack of paint. I spent a whole day sanding down the back side of the dash and painted it with gloss black before putting in the sound deadener and the firewall pad. Then came the task of putting the wiring harness back in and trying to remember where everything went.

There are still a few wires to identify and route to their proper location, but it is mostly back in place, as is the brake pedal assembly, accelerator pedal assembly, raingear wipers and cruise control unit. Once I had all of the wiring for the engine compartment in place, as well as the fuel lines to the fuel injection, it was finally time to put the engine and transmission back in the car. This turned out to be one of the easier tasks accomplished this month. It all went in and was bolted in place in a very short time. The headers are installed too!

I also finished installing all the new brake rotors, calipers and brake lines on all four corners, as well as all of the parking brake components. The brake booster, master cylinder, steering column, steering shaft and exhaust systems will be next up on the list as soon as I get the body to frame mounts secured. Sometimes it seems like progress is slow, but this month, I can see some real progress that definitely shows. I am hoping to be completely done with the underside of the car by next month. To be continued.

Tri-Five Ladies Day Out

On a very cold January day seven Tri-Five Ladies carpoled to Wynola for a yummy lunch at Jeremy's on the Hill. After that we walked thru Junction Antiques & Collectibles just next door. With a tin roof and no heat we didn't stay long and decided not to venture to Julian, just a little too cold and wet for our liking. Instead we headed down the hill for more antiquing at the Ramona Antique Fair. A fun day with great friends. A big thank you to Dana Stevens and Donna Keller for organizing this for us. Looking forward to brunch and ceramic making next month.

In N Out Cruise Day January 2020

I attended the Poway Cruisers In n Out Cruise yesterday & was fortunate enough to be awarded one of the trophies. Last month's cruise-in was rained out so they awarded 6 trophies yesterday rather than the usual 3. The 3 trophies that would have been awarded in December, and of course, the 3 for this month. Mine was the first name called so I won a December trophy.

It was a very nice turnout on a beautiful day, I believe there were about 70 cars registered. I got there a few minutes after 11:00 & my number was 58.

Got the word from the stadium this week, that 2020 will be the last opportunity for the Big 3 at the Stadium. After much research, we have decided that there is not another venue that will accommodate such a great event.

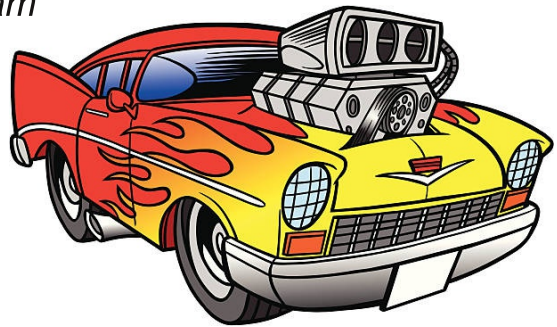

2020 will be the last Big 3 Parts Exchange, DON'T MISS IT!!!!!!!

Claudia's Corner

Here is a yummy salad for your Valentine.
You can freeze it and take out as much as you need when you need it.

Claudia

Champagne Salad

Cream together:

1 8 oz. Cream Cheese - softened
3/4 cup sugar

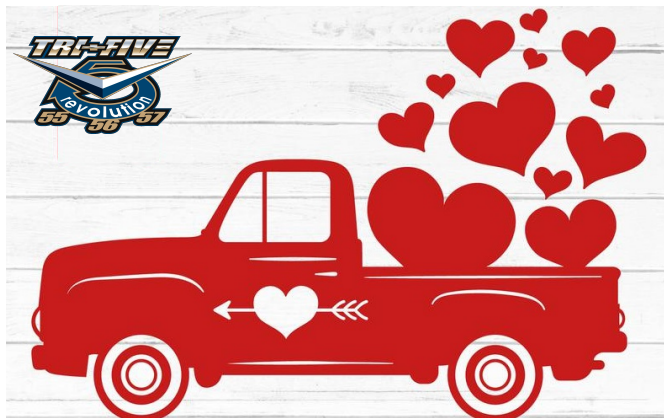

Fold in following ingredients:

2 large sliced bananas
20 oz. crushed pineapple - drained
10 or more maraschino cherries - optional (I used them, makes it prettier)
1/2 cup chopped nuts (I used a little more than 1/2 cup)
10 oz. frozen strawberries in juice - thawed
1 - 16 oz. container of cool whip - folded in (I only used 8 oz. and it worked great.
I thought 16 oz. was too much)

Pour mixture into two loaf pans that are lined with plastic wrap or foil (I used plastic wrap to keep longer in freezer), fold ends over top of pan and freeze. Or you can make small individual salads by freezing them in small aluminum loaf pans and take out one at a time to use. It will make 4 or 5 small ones.

When you serve the salad, slice while frozen and place on a bed of lettuce on individual salad plates. Do this just before serving because it melts quickly.

This is wonderful for company, you can make it ahead. I always have it on hand for a little extra for dinner!

Here's the information about which we spoke. I will be helping out in a "sit down" volunteer position. As you know, these are very worthy events and it would be cool if Tri-5 had a part in it. NO pressure, I know it's pretty early. We (Rotary) have helped sponsor this event for some time now and serve hundreds of out homeless Veteran's in many ways. They served us, it is now our turn to serve them. The contact number is on the flyer in the lower right corner.
