Big Three Auto Parts Exchange

This year's Big 3 Swapmeet was moved to a Thursday to Saturday due to a stadium scheduling conflict. This change wasn't a problem for most of us except that this Thursday was one of the coldest and wettest we have seen for a few years. Wayne and Linda were the only ones to brave the elements to set up their RV.

The next day was extremely cold in the morning, many of the east county freeways were closed due to black ice and snow. Living in sunny Southern California we're not used to that. When we arrived at around 6:30 am, Wayne was up, scraping the ice off his vehicles. It was really cold but at least no rain in the forecast and around 8 am, when everyone else arrived, it did start to warm up a little and the shopping began. Lots of empty vendor spaces but still plenty of things to see and a few of them started making their way to base camp.

Our bar-b-que lunch turned out great. Bob, Wayne and Joe manned the grill cooking hamburgers and hot dogs, while the ladies set up the tables for all the side dishes. As usual we had more food than we could eat.

After things were put away, it was time for more shopping and to purchase our spaces again for next year. Hopefully we will have a little warmer weather.

Big thank you Wayne and Linda for sharing a warm place for us to camp out and holding down the fort and to all who brought potluck yummys.

Lynn and I attended the 24th annual Tubac Car Show. The show was held at the Tubac Golf Resort about an hour south/west of Tucson. The movie Tin Cup was filmed there. The show was sponsored by the Cochise County Cruisers. The show is held on the driving range, which at this time of year with the wind blowing across dead grass was just great. Started with a black car and ended with a tan one.

There were about 463 cars in attendance covering many classes. There was a section for modified, stock, sports cars, etc. The cars were parked by class. There was everything from restomods, restored antiques, porches, stock and hot rods, including bikes. There were not too many tri5s, few restored and a few hot rodded. A lot of older fords as well. The resort set up a barbeque for lunch.

I did not take many pictures. I ran into an old friend that I have not seen in 20+ years. We worked together for many years. She and her husband moved to Quail Creek in Green Valley. We spent a lot of time visiting.

We look forward to seeing you all next weekend in Yuma.

An Auto Swap and Auction in Florida

by Ann Goldberg

Carlisle automotive events. The name's iconic. And, for several years Harvey and I talked about attending. Interested, but not interested enough to make the drive to Pennsylvania for the 'big one.' Happily, Carlisle came to Florida, to a site just an hour's drive away. It was a February well spent when we went to Winter Autofest Lakeland powered by Carlisle.

You've got to love that title. 'Powered by Carlisle' - these folks know there's a lot of franchise in their name. They definitely have a way with words, too. Promoting their +400 car auction, they used a ploy that had me thinking of Smokey and the Bandit. "If the great Burt Reynolds can put his faith in Carlisle Auctions, you can too!" Perhaps I should have been whistling "Dixie", drinkin' a slug of 'shine, and heading into the south. (Realizing central Florida is not the South. To get here you drive through the South and come out the other side.)

Any way they choose to position it, a great car day. A large parking field with numbered rows and shuttle service to the gate. An automotive swap meet reminiscent of the ones we used to share with our Revolutionary friends. An auction with available seating in a cooled airplane hanger. Creature comforts and cars. Yup, it makes for a great day.

The Kitchen Scoop on Tasty Cake and Fruit Combos

Ann Goldberg

Some folks just seem to come across food hacks more easily than I do. Or, they instinctively know what unusual things you can combine to create something tasty and are willing to give it a try. I'm not that adventuresome in the kitchen. My friend Patty is. And, so was her mother-in-law. Mrs. Hoerner provided the chocolate-cherry cake recipe. Patty's responsible for the apple-spice version. I have not had the opportunity to try either of these yet. (Harvey and I are on one of our jags of trying to eat healthier.) However, Patty swears by both of them, and she has never steered me wrong,

Easy Chocolate-Cherry Cake

- 1 Box chocolate cake mix, whatever is your favorite
- 2 Eggs
- 1 teaspoon Almond extract
- 1 Can cherry pie filling

Preheat oven as directed. Mix these four ingredients together well. (Do not add any other ingredients called for on the package.) Prepare a 13x9-inch or Bundt cake pan as per the box. Bake as directed for the time specified for your pan size.

If desired, give the cooled cake a light sprinkling of confectioners sugar prior to serving. Or, if you're feeling especially decadent, serve each slice with a dollop of whipped topping.

Easy Apple-Spice Cake

- 1 Box spice cake mix
- 2 Eggs
- 1 Can apple pie filling

Preheat oven as directed. Pour pie filling into the mixing bowl and using a knife, kitchen shears or pastry blender, break the apple slices into smaller pieces. Add the eggs and cake mix. (Do not use any other ingredients listed on the cake mix package.) Stir until all are well combined. Prepare a 13x9-inch or Bundt cake pan as per the box. Bake as directed for the time specified for your pan size.

If desired, give the cooled cake a light sprinkling of confectioners sugar, and an even lighter sprinkling of cinnamon. Or, dollop each slice with whipped topping and a bit of cinnamon
