CONGRATULATIONS ROD AND DON,
BIG AWARD WINNERS AT THE
ALPINE CHILI COOKOFF AND CAR SHOW
ON SEPTEMBER 29TH.

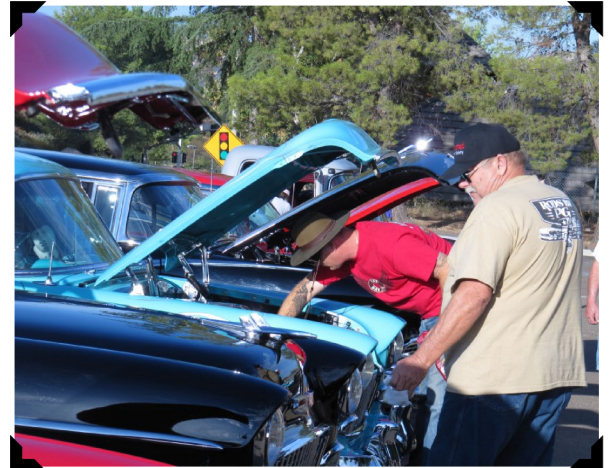

Alpine Chili Cookoff and Car Show

by Bob & Ava Bishop

On a warm fall morning at the end of September we cruised up to Alpine to attend the Kiwanis' Annual Chili Cook-off and Car Show. Since the "PTSNBM" is still down we dusted off the '56 convertible and headed up the hill to meet with more Tri 5 Revolutionaries.

Timing was perfect we had just backed into our spot when in drives Rod, Don and Lance (aka Rod's son-in-law), so we were able to all park side by side. The day was sunny and warm but we had fun visiting with each other and other classic friends. We even talked with Wally and Lynn Gaines, old CCSD members we haven't seen in years who have moved back to this area.

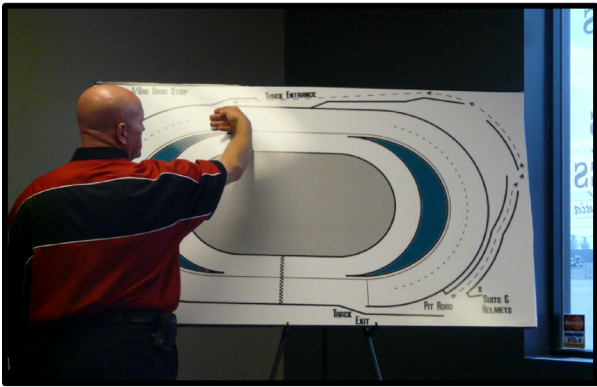

That's what is so great about these events, you never know who you will see. We voted for our favorite cars, checked out the craft fair, participated in the chili cook-off taste testing, and ended the day with Rod's '57 and Don's '55 taking home trophies. Thank you to Gary Judge, the organizer of the car show. Once again you did a spectacular job.

My Favorite Nascar Driver

Car guys don't have many boundaries in their appreciation for things automotive. Loving cars, they love almost all cars. This was proven on the last Saturday of September when Harvey set aside being a classic car guy long enough to transform himself into a NASCAR driver, taking 20 laps in a late model stockcar at Irwindale Speedway with L.A. Racing.

During the pre-drive chalk talk the instructor used a diagram of the track to emphasize proper race line; track landmarks for braking and acceleration points; stressed smooth throttle control (treat it like you're rolling your foot over an egg); braking (stand on it with every atom of strength you have), and, how to use the cars' momentum to roll through the turns.

Once the drivers were suited, helmeted and gloved, and had stuffed themselves into their cockpits, four cars were put on the track at a time. Spotters maintain radio communication with the drivers, talking them through their first careful laps as they get the feel for their rides and keeping a careful eye on them once the green flag drops, directing controlled passing as the cars take their 20 laps at speed.

It's an exciting afternoon! You may want to give it a try!

San Diego Cool Expo Car Show and Swapmeet

September 3rd another Monday holiday at the San Diego Cool Expo Car Show and Swapmeet. A warm day for all the Tri 5 Revolutionaries who were venturous enough to attend. We arrived at different times but all met up at Islands for a yummy lunch. The next local car swapmeet will be the Big 3 at the end of February and we of course all plan to attend.

Stanley's Naval Adventures

"After visiting the vet - I mean the Dr, and getting my neck stitched, I'm as good as new. Off we went to visit the ship 'Midway'. As you can see - Rod was excited to pose for a picture with me.

We must have gone up and down over 1000 steps. Rod bumped his head many times. I visited the brig, surgeries, and Admirals quarters, but my favorite was getting to sit in a jet. Rod didn't appreciate getting laughed at, posing with me."

Back when our Tri-5's were new the occasional family Sunday drive was always a special treat. Once behind the wheel of the family's '55 Belair, Dad would usually head out on the country roads for a drive past the nearby farms with no special destination in mind. The weekend before Halloween we would end at a farm stand near the edge of town to choose the perfect pumpkin for that year's Jack-O-Lantern.

At 19 Coe Avenue fresh pumpkins were strictly ornamental. We didn't roast and eat the seeds. After I dug the slimy filaments and seeds out of the inside with a sturdy spoon they were immediately put into the trash. We didn't buy special pie varieties for baking. Pumpkin pie was made from a can of Libby's from the A & P grocery store.

Pumpkin is a healthy treat providing fiber, vitamin A and potassium. The seeds are easy to roast, but watch portion size, unfortunately, they are high in fat.

Roasted Pumpkin Seeds

After removing the seeds from the pumpkin, wash them in a large bowl of water, rubbing the seeds between your hands to remove any filaments. Drain in a strainer for 30 minutes before spreading on a baking pan with sides. Place in a warm 120-150 degree oven, stirring every 10 minutes to speed drying.

Remove pan of dried seeds to a cooling rack and preheat oven to 275 degrees. Make sure seeds are in a single layer on the pan and cover with a mixture of 4 Tablespoons melted butter and 1 teaspoon salt. Or, if you want a Halloween-y flavor, decrease salt to ½ teaspoon and add 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon ginger and ½ teaspoon allspice to the butter. Roast seeds for 10-20 minutes, checking every 5 minutes so seeds don't burn.

The colonists were the first to bake pumpkins turning them into a crust-less pie by cutting off the top, removing seeds and filaments and filling the cavity with milk, spices and honey then baking it in hot ashes. Today, cookbooks and the internet are filled with a variety of recipes using either fresh or canned pumpkin in pies, breads, soups, cakes, muffins, cookies, cheesecake and pumpkin pancakes. Whatever the source or the end product, I remain a fan of all things pumpkin!

Pumpkin Pancakes

Syrup:

1 cup maple-flavor syrup
5 Tablespoons chopped pecans or walnuts, toasted.

Mix syrup and nuts together in a microwave safe bowl. Heat 25 seconds. Cover to keep warm until ready to use.

Pancakes:

1 cup buttermilk or whole wheat pancake mix
2/3 cup cold water
1/3 cup canned pumpkin
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon ginger

Non-stick cooking spray for griddle

Mix all ingredients well. Heat heavy griddle or skillet over medium heat. Drop batter onto hot surface, 2 Tablespoons at a time. Cook 2 minutes, until bubbles form. Flip and cook an additional 2 minutes. Serve with butter and warm syrup.
